

Marcus Klossek Electric Trio

Telecaster Jazz Guitar Noire from Berlin

Marcus Klossek –guitar w/ Carsten Hein –bass & Derek Scherzer –drums

A Telecaster, bass and drums is all that is needed to bring the brand new songs of guitarist Marcus Klossek to sound great!

Marcus Klossek is an established member of Berlin's jazz scene who knows how to get to the point with his Electric Trio.

His new album "Taken From The Skies" (Unit Records) is inviting and open, energetic and cool. A sound-set Heist-Movie, it describes the planning, preparation and performance of the musical coup.

Rob Mallows, London Jazz News:

"There is, understandably, a film score feel to this album that sounds like music that might accompany a reissue of a film from the new-wave of German cinema in the '60s. There's enough in here to warrant multiple listens, and one suspects that live, it would be somewhat different from a conventional jazz guitar show."

Ralf Dombrowski, Jazzthing 111:

„Vitality statement, Conclusion: This music belongs on stage!“

Martin Laurentius, Jazzthing 96:

„In Jazz there is a demand, that on and with the instruments stories should be told. Marcus Klossek, the guitarist from Berlin, is someone who has internalized this.“

Carina Prange, Jazzdimensions:

„There is an incredible amount of pleasure and imagination involved. This is Jazz in all its many facets!“

website: www.marcusklossek.de facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/marcusklossek/?ref=hl> twitter: <https://twitter.com/marcusklossek?lang=de> promo-video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sznUqDHGOms>